CHAPTER XIV.

THE LOVERS ARE SEPARATED.

THE cessation of the storm found the old hayboat still afloat, but the two lovers on top of the hay were in a precarious condition. The wind and rain had chilled Alma, and she snuggled close to Harvey for warmth.

"My darling!" he said as he hugged her close. "This is indeed a terrible experience for you. Rather would I have remained in the prison at Tiflis than subject you to such peril."

"Dear one, they would have killed you, and that would have killed me. Is it not better for us to die together, if we must die?"

"Yes, it is better; but, since the old hulk and its load of hay have survived the worst of the storm, we may yet run across a boat that will pick us up."

"Let us hope so."

They spoke little as they huddled together on the hay. Each was straining to hear the faintest sound that might come from over the water.

"Hark!" said Harvey. "Dearest, did you not hear something?"

"I fancied—I hoped—I heard a shout. Can it be that Russian boats are out after us so soon, and in that storm?"

"The Russians would not be shouting. I fancy it is some one in distress. Perhaps the Turks in that cayik are shouting for help."

With clasped hands they waited through the dark hours of the early morning. Dawn began streaking the east. Harvey strained his eyes to pierce the scarcely perceptible light. Not more than 200 feet from them was a long, low hull that seemed at rest. The hum of voices could be heard as the wind and rolling current carried them nearer.

"We are saved!" cried Alma, and she wept on his breast.

"Ho, there!" shouted Harvey at the top of his voice. "Whoever you are, help us!"

"What is the voice that speaks out of the darkness?" came a shout. "In the name of Allah tell us!"

Then above the other voice there rose cries of "Allah! Allah, Ill Allah! Mohma Mohammed Resoul Ullah!"

"Mohammedans, and most likely Turks," said Harvey. "Yet that does not sound like a Turkish voice. But any port in a storm."

As the dawn increased and the old hay barge floated nearer the other boat Harvey could distinguish dark forms lined up along the deck rail. He seemed to recognize that long, low, black hull. A rope was thrown to him, and he caught it after several attempts. Those on board the vessel drew the hayboat toward it.

"Who are you?" came a voice in a jargon that Harvey happily understood.

"We are castaways on a wreck," he answered, trying to produce a combination of tongues that these men could understand. He had been long enough in the east to know that when one crossed a frontier he did not at once leave the language of one country behind him and find a totally distinct tongue of another in use. The people who trade across a frontier borrow from each other enough to combine their dialects and produce a sufficiently intelligible language for intercourse, and as one recedes from the frontier the borrowed words from the other country are gradually lost until the tongue of the natives is in use. Thus it was that, no matter with whom he came in contact, Irons could make himself understood.

"We will take you!" came the voice, and the hayboat was drawn close to the other. Powerful arms were outreached to them, and Irons, stiff and sore from the experience of the night, gathered his strength to pass Alma over.

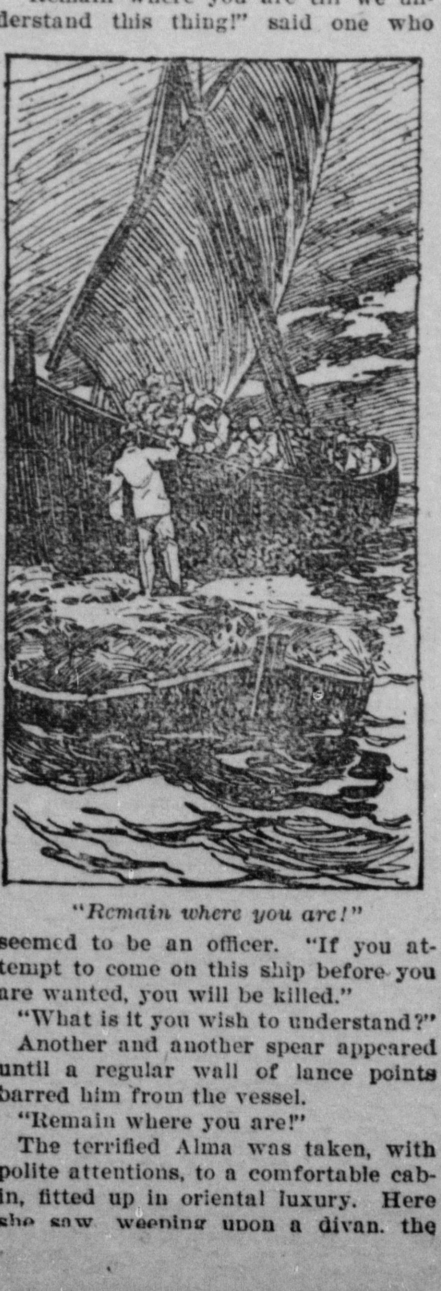
"A soldier of the hated czar!" yelled one on board, scanning the uniform of the inspector general of prisons, which Alma still wore. "One of our enemies!"

A sharp cry escaped Alma, and Harvey sang out:

"Have a care how you use that woman! That is my wife! She wears that uniform only to escape!"

As he spoke he tried to leap to the other vessel, but a long spear stopped him.

"Remain where you are till we understand this thing!" said one who seemed to be an officer. "If you attempt to come on this ship before you are wanted, you will be killed."



"Remain where you are!"

"What is it you wish to understand?"

Another and another spear appeared until a regular wall of lance points barred him from the vessel.

The terrified Alma was taken, with polite attentions, to a comfortable cabin, fitted up in oriental luxury. Here she saw weeping upon a divan, the beautiful daughter of the murdered Biartelkis.

"Koura!" exclaimed Alma, throwing her arms around the girl. But Koura, thinking that she was being embraced by a man, repulsed Alma.

"Koura, do you not know me? I am Alma Jurnieff!"

"Alma Jurnieff! Am I, then, rescued again by Russians?"

"No, my poor girl; I am as unlucky as you. My American sweetheart, who was accused of abducting you the first time and was thrown into prison at Tiflis to be sent to Siberia or killed, escaped with my assistance. I wore the uniform of the inspector general of prisons, and by acting a part I succeeded in getting him out. We escaped from Tiflis while the alarm guns were being fired. The soldiers even came upon the boat where we were hiding under the hay. A storm overtook us. The captain of the boat was swept overboard, and the other men deserted in a small boat, thinking the American was the cause of the storm. M. Irons and I, left alone, have just been rescued by the men on this boat. At least, I am here, but M. Irons is held on the hayboat. They thought, as you did, that I was a Russian officer."

"I know you are not now," said Koura, putting her arm around Alma. "I recognize your voice and face. Let them know that M. Irons is a friend."

"How shall I address them? Do you know them well? When did you come?"

"But a short time ago. I know now that the American had nothing to do with my abduction. Of course you know that my father has not been found, and I had no home. I was lodging with my uncle, Dimitri Biartelkis, and one night as I was closing his house I was seized, hurried into a drosky and taken to the river, where I was put into a Turkish cayik."

"You passed us," cried Alma, "but we did not suspect that you were there."

"You could not. Even the soldiers that came—I thought they were looking for me, but they must have been looking for you—were deceived. I was thrust into a sack and placed under several other sacks of meal and grain, and they did not find me. Oh, this is terrible! But M. Irons will protect and defend us."

"Will he?" demanded a short, swarthy officer of the ameer's boat as he turned Alma rudely around. "Let me look at you. You have cut your hair if you are a woman. But you must be a woman, you are so beautiful. Since we have had so much trouble with your accursed Muscovite officers, and have had to take the bride of our noble prince twice, we will recompense ourselves by taking you also. Keep each other in good cheer, for in a short time the officers of our glorious ameer will dance at the wedding of his son, the prince. I will have the American, as you call him, thrust aside."

Reaching the deck, he gave commands to raise the anchor and set sail.

"We have accomplished that for which we came and more," he said. "The supposed officer is, as that fellow said, a woman and a beautiful one."

"What is that?" asked the heavy voice of an officer who seemed half drunk as he came up to where the group stood with their spears leveled at Harvey's breast.

"I report, Karakal, that we have accomplished more than our mission. We received from Hafiz Effendi and Mizik the beautiful daughter of the merchant Biartelkis, whom they assure us is the loveliest young woman in the world and a fitting bride for our noble prince. Now comes this load of hay on which two cried for rescue. One is this man you see, of a race called Americans. The other is clad in a Russian uniform, but proves to be a lovely young woman, as lovely as the other. She is on board. I have ordered the ship to sail. Have I done right?"

"Yes. But let me see this last one."

He went to the cabin and gazed with delight upon the white and agitated face of Alma.

"You are a prize indeed," he said. "We will keep you. In obeying the orders of the ameer and taking to Bokhara a bride for the prince we receive nothing but good words for duty done, while Hafiz Effendi gets the money. But with you we can do as we please. You are lovely enough to sell to a prince and line our purses with gold."

"Have mercy! Have mercy!" cried Alma, falling on her knees and holding up her clasped hands in supplication. "Have mercy on my friend who is still on the hay! Save his life, set him free and do with me what you will!"

Karakal looked a moment into her upturned, tearful face. Then, with a grin, he went on deck.

"Push that hayboat off!" he shouted. "Let the infidel die or escape as he may. Push him off!"

"In God's name do not separate me from my wife!" shouted Harvey desperately.

"Your wife!" repeated Karakal, with a laugh. "She does not say so. She says you are but a friend. She has found another friend on the ship, one who is as beautiful as herself, the daughter of Biartelkis, the merchant of Tiflis. They will get along together, and at Bokhara they will become the brides of princes. But you! We cannot make money by taking you, and you might prove troublesome. The storm is past. You have plenty of fodder and will not starve. Hay is good. All beasts eat hay."

With a shout of laughter the men shoved away with their spears, and as the wind filled the sails of the long black sloop Harvey, enraged and filled with alarm for Alma, was floating alone on the Caspian on a boat filled with water, the load of hay settling deeper and deeper in the sea.

BALTIC SQUADRON

Naval Reinforcements In the Far East to Be Dispatched at Last.

AN IMPERATIVE NEED

Russia at Last Recognizes the Necessity of Breaking Japan's Naval Supremacy.

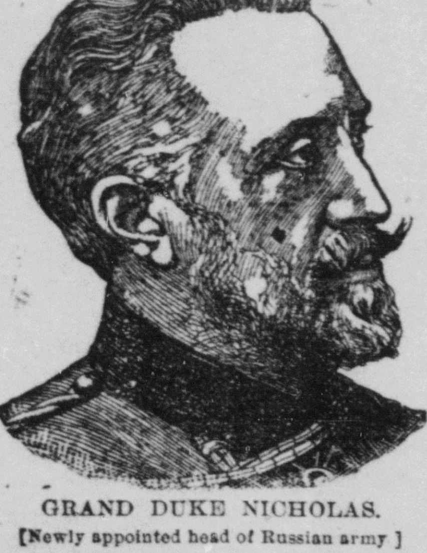
Desperate Fighting Is Again Reported at Port Arthur---Latest Details.

Efforts by the Russians to retake positions commanding the water supply of Port Arthur has resulted in hard fighting, the losses on both sides being reported to have been heavy. The Japanese retain the contested ground. It is said that heavy guns newly mounted threaten the Russian warships in the harbor of Port Arthur, which may now be forced to go out and face the fleet of Admiral Togo. There is a report that a Japanese gunboat was sunk by coming in contact with a mine south of the Liao Tung peninsula; the report adds that a portion of the crew were rescued. The Japanese have completed the changing of the gauge of the railroad from Dalny to New Chwang, and its equipment is nearly finished; this will be of great assistance to the armies in Manchuria. The Russian admiralty has decided to dispatch the Baltic squadron in the direction of the far East within a short period of time; events are expected, however, to determine whether the vessels shall proceed to their destination or return to Russian ports to await reinforcements.

IMPORTANT DECISION

Baltic Squadron at Last Under Orders to Sail.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 3.—Announcement is made that Emperor Nicholas will visit Reval on Tuesday to bid farewell to the Baltic squadron. After months of preparation and several false starts, it is believed that the squadron is at last on the eve of its departure upon its long journey. A division in the admiralty has existed throughout the period of preparation regarding the advisability of sending out the squadron, but with the decision to double the size of the Manchurian army and press the war with vigor, the logic of those who for months have insisted that every available ship should be dispatched to the far East has finally prevailed. The argument that no complete victory over the Japanese is possible unless the command of the sea is wrested from them could not be overcome, and though much valuable time has been lost and the moment seems inauspicious, it is officially intimated that an irrevocable decision has been taken to dispatch the Baltic fleet even if the Port Arthur squadron should be annihilated before its arrival there.



GRAND DUKE NICHOLAS.

[Newly appointed head of Russian army]

It is realized that the squadron, which on paper is about equal in fighting strength to that of the Japanese fleet, will be much better able to encounter the foe now than next spring, after the Japanese ships have had all winter to clean, repair and refit.

While hopes are still entertained that Port Arthur may be able to hold out until the appearance of the Baltic fleet, the question of the fall of that stronghold does not apparently enter greatly into the calculations of the admiralty. The only thing expected of the Port Arthur squadron is to break out of the harbor and inflict as much damage as possible upon Admiral Togo's fleet. Such ships as escape are expected to make their way to Vladivostok, where the repairs upon the cruiser Bogatyr are understood to have been practically completed and those on the Rossia and Gromoboi are nearing completion.

The question of the war in the far East will depend upon the issue of a sea fight after the arrival of the Baltic fleet. Vladivostok, although ice-bound in winter for commercial ships, can easily be kept open for a fleet of war vessels by means of ice-breakers. If the Japanese fleet is caught in such weakened condition that the Baltic ships are able to win a victory, officials here hold that other problems will solve themselves, and with Japanese communications severed the Japanese army on the mainland will be at the mercy of Russia.

IN DESPERATE PLIGHT

Russians Strive to Regain Water Supply at Port Arthur.

Tokio, Oct. 3.—The Russians are reported to be desperately endeavoring to retake their lost positions, including Fort Kuropatkin, in the hope of restoring the water supply of Port Arthur. They are said to have repeatedly assaulted the Japanese after shelling from neighboring forts and batteries. The Japanese continue to hold the positions. Both sides are said to have suffered severely. The newly mounted heavy Japanese guns are said to command the entire harbor. The position of the remnant of the Russian Port Arthur fleet is said to be precarious, and it is believed the vessels must soon emerge or be destroyed.

Advices from Manchuria are to the effect that the Japanese and Russian outposts and scouts continue in close contact, south, southeast and east of Mukden. Skirmishes are occurring daily and an aggressive general action is expected soon.

It is believed that the general engagement will take place near Tie pass and that General Kuropatkin is holding Mukden and positions along the Hun river merely to temporarily check the Japanese advance. Snow has fallen in the mountains east of Mukden and there has been frost in the valleys.

Severe Fighting Reported.

Chefoo, Oct. 3.—Severe fighting, the Russians being the aggressors, occurred Sept. 28 and 29 on the west shore of Liaoti promontory near Pigeon bay, according to a report brought by Chinese who left Port Arthur Sept. 30. The Russians already apparently are attempting to capture the heavy guns which the Japanese have mounted in that vicinity. The Russians were in considerable force and they made several sorties, dragging field artillery with them. They were unsuccessful, however.

Important Japanese Advantage.

General Oku's Headquarters in the Field, Oct. 1, via Fusan, Oct. 3.—The first Japanese train arrived at Liao Yang this afternoon. The gauge of the railroad has been changed from Dalny to New Chwang. A regular schedule of trains will be established in a few days. Engines and cars have been brought from Japan. The completion of the railway removes entirely the problem of the transportation of supplies and ammunition to the Japanese forces in the field.

Japanese Gunboat Sunk.

Tokio, Oct. 3.—It is rumored that a Japanese gunboat struck a mine and sunk south of the Liao Tung peninsula. A portion of her crew reached an island and were rescued.

ENCOURAGING SYMPTOMS

Postmaster General Payne's Chances of Recovery Improve.

Washington, Oct. 3.—After a season filled with strong hopes, alternating with the gravest fears of almost immediate dissolution, Postmaster General Payne's condition today is declared by his physicians to be decidedly more encouraging, but they are unwilling to hazard an opinion as to the future. Several times yesterday the pulse became so feeble that it seemed it must cease altogether, and at one time the physicians said the postmaster general was as near death as few get and survive the day. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the doctors fully believed that the end was at hand and the family, who were at dinner, were summoned. By Mrs. Payne's direction Rev. Cotton Smith, rector of St. Johns Episcopal church, where the family worship, was sent for and on his arrival those at the stricken man's bedside joined in prayer. But again his marvelous recuperative powers asserted themselves and won another victory.

Slowly but very perceptibly a change for the better took place and by 7 o'clock the postmaster general had regained complete consciousness, had recognized those about him and seemed almost like himself again. One of the physicians said the improvement was almost miraculous.

Sensational Pittsburg Tragedy.

Pittsburg, Oct. 3.—The local police are wrestling with what appears to be a mysterious murder case. The body of a young woman, richly apparelled in silks, laces and velvets, was found in the Allegheny river Sunday, a short distance below Union bridge. The body, which had evidently been in the water but a few hours, bore three wounds on the forehead, such as might have been made by a blunt instrument, and several small cuts, evidently made by a razor.

KENTUCKIANS PROTEST

Even the Milk Wagons Were Put Out of Business on Sunday and Damage Suits May Follow.

People Were Not Expecting Law to be Enforced and Sunday Supplies Were Short.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 3.—Lexington Sunday experienced its first Sunday under the blue law regime. The restrictions were greater than they will be again. Late in the afternoon the city solicitor discovered that milk wagons and ice wagons are a "necessity" and exempt by law. Only a few milk wagons attempted to run and their drivers were promptly arrested. Most of the population drank coffee without cream. Families whose sick children were deprived of milk complained bitterly and threatened suits for damages. Ice wagons did not attempt to run. Late in the afternoon the city solicitor decided that both have the right to run and the drivers under arrest were released. Only about thirty people were arrested for violating the Sunday law, although about 200 had announced their intention Saturday of continuing business. They decided, when they started to open and saw the police, they had better keep closed.

Drug stores had a right to sell medicine on prescription only, but this did not pay to keep clerks, and all drug stores closed. The only places open were hotels, livery stables and newspaper offices, the latter two classes having secured injunctions. No time had been given citizens to prepare for the strict enforcement of Sunday laws and many families had not laid in groceries and meats. Preparations will be made hereafter. Some of the pastors spoke of the Sunday enforcement and urged the members of their congregations to lay in sufficient supplies on Saturday.

The saloon men believe the Sunday enforcement will soon become unpopular and that they will be allowed to open again. Poolrooms have not decided whether they will entirely close. They ran as usual on Saturday. No saloons were open Sunday. They reported a record-breaking sale of bottled goods last Saturday night. No drunks were registered Sunday.

Ex-Alderman C. D. Lowry announces his intention of filing $10,000 damage suit against those responsible for stopping milk wagons. Lowry had two sick children who subsist mainly on milk, and his wagon failed to arrive. He called at the milk depot and was unable to purchase milk, as the managers of the depot had been arrested for violation of the law. Lowry says he will invite all families whose sick children suffered to join him in this suit, and he will pay the attorneys' fees.

Deadly Wreck on Crossing.

Lima, Ohio, Oct. 3.—A Lake Erie & Western freight train was wrecked on a curve at the Jefferson street crossing in Lima Sunday, and Engineer J. M. Bacon was fatally injured and Fireman John V. Carrig was scalded to death. The engineer was thrown from his cab into a field and sustained a bad gash on the head and a fracture of the left leg. The fireman was buried under the wreckage. The accident is alleged to have been due to disobedience of the speed rule for the local yards.

Illinois Town's Serious Loss.

Chillicothe, Ill., Oct. 3.—Chillicothe was partly destroyed by fire Sunday. For a time it was feared that the entire business portion of the place would be wiped out. One block of buildings was destroyed, including the First National bank building, Squire's grocery, the Chillicothe Bulletin office, Bailey printing establishment, the telephone exchange and a meat market. The fire started in Squire's grocery and, fanned by a stiff breeze, spread quickly. The loss will reach $100,000.

May Settle Long Strike.

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 3.—With the opening of the eleventh week of the cotton mill strike the prospect of a settlement seems somewhat brighter owing to active measures taken by the local merchants. The merchants now believe that they have discovered mutual grounds upon which negotiations may be reopened and that some settlement will be reached within a short time.

Objectionable Candidate Withdraws.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 3.—Jesse W. Crosby, a Mormon, has filed with the secretary of state his withdrawal as nominee for presidential elector on the Republican ticket. Objection had been made to his candidacy by persons who charged that he was a polygamist.

Caught by Steamer.

Monongahela, Pa., Oct. 3.—While crossing the Monongahela river in a skiff, four miners were run down by the steamer Bertha, pushing empty barges, and were drowned.

Constable Held Under Bond.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 3.—Constable W. F. France, who shot Thurlow Grim, a lawyer, while resisting arrest, had his preliminary trial at Petersburg. He was bound over to the higher court and his bond was fixed at $5,000.

Little Girl Dragged by Streetcar.

Logansport, Ind., Oct. 3.—Trying to save her school books, which had fallen as she was crossing the street, Helen Graffis was struck by a streetcar and dragged 100 feet. She has little chance of recovery.

Precursor of Peace.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 3.—Every seat in Tremont Temple was occupied Sunday afternoon at the first of the religious mass meetings which preceded the opening of the international peace congress today.

CHRONIC SORES

Signs of Polluted Blood.

There is nothing so repulsive looking and disgusting as an old sore. You worry over it till the brain grows weary and work with it until the patience is exhausted, and the very sight of the old festering, sickly looking place makes you irritable, despondent and desperate.

A chronic sore is the very best evidence that your blood is in an unhealthy and impoverished condition, that your constitution is breaking down under the effects of some serious disorder. The taking of strong medicines, like mercury or potash, will sometimes so pollute and vitiate the blood and impair the general system that the merest scratch or bruise results in obstinate non-healing sores of the most offensive character.

Often an inherited taint breaks out in frightful eating sores upon the limbs or face in old age or middle life. Whenever a sore refuses to heal the blood is always at fault, and while antiseptic washes, salves, soaps and powders can do much to keep down the inflammation and cleanse the sore, it will never heal permanently till the blood itself has been purified and the deadly germs and poisons destroyed, and with S. S. S. this can be accomplished—the polluted blood is purified and invigorated, and when rich, pure blood is again circulating freely throughout the body the flesh around the old sore begins to take on a natural color, the discharge of matter ceases and the place heals over.

SSS

S. S. S. is both a blood purifier and tonic that puts your blood in order and at the same time tones up the system and builds up the general health. If you have a chronic sore write us. No charge for medical advice.

A RAILROAD employe, who is a democrat and an admirer of Bryan, and who stood by the Bryan organization in Indiana in 1896 and 1900, has let it be known that he will not support Parker. When asked about his position and reminded that Bryan was supporting Parker, he said: "Bryan under the circumitances has to support Parker, but I don't have to, and what is more Bryan don't want me too." And that fellow has Bryan's desire sized up about right.

IN 1892 the democrats plead with the people to be given a chance to try their hand at government. They alleged that President Harrison and the Republican party were not running things right. They said then as they reiterate now that a protective tariff is robbery. Enough people believe their tale of woe and voted the democratic ticket to give them a chance. It was a costly experiment for the people for a panic followed the election of Grover Cleveland and a democratic congress. And they got no relief until McKinley and a republican congress were elected and confidence was restored. The people are not going to take chances with the democratic party again soon.

JAMES P. HORNADAY, the staff correspondent of the Indianapolis News, stationed at New York, in a lengthy dispatch, explains that the Wall street supporters of Parker are making urgent appeals to their fellows in the east that it is absolutely necessary to elect Parker, otherwise all the work of the reorganizers will have been in vain. They point out that if Parker is elected the reorganizers can say, "Behold what we were able to accomplish. Observe the superiority of our leadership to that of Bryan." On the other hand they regard as certain that the party would again turn to Bryan as its leader. That is no new argument in Indiana. It is just what the Democrats who believe in Bryan have been saying ever since the St. Louis convention. And many of them still insist that the only way to save the party from Wall street influences is to defeat Parker.

Several from Brownstown, Medora and surrounding towns attended the Spiritualists meeting yesterday.

Soldier Wants to Know.

Does the Seymour Daily Democrat propose to keep its soldier readers in ignorance of its intentions if Judge Parker should be elected President, in regard to the revoking of the late order of President Roosevelt, lowering the age limit under the law of 1890? We understand the personal organ of the "Big Three" has not, and we know that the "Sun" has not published this part of Judge Parker's letter of acceptance. Is this oversight, neglect or a deliberate attempt to fool the soldier element among their readers.

Big Crowd.

There have been various estimates of the crowd at Pigeon Roost Saturday. All agree however that the crowd was enormous. Gatch Wheaton and Dr. Prall made an estimate by counting the vehicles that passed a given point in a certain length of time as they were leaving, striking an average of the number in each vehicle, then taking the whole time it took the crowd to get away, and figure out that 12960 people were on the ground.

Society's New Game.

"Trail" has taken society by storm. It is something new, something different.

"Trail," as the name implies, is founded on a popular hunting sport, is played with fifty-three fine cards in four colors, representing a fox to be chased and caught, and four packs of hounds of thirteen each

"Trail" has a constantly recurring interest for players as they perfect their playing from evening to evening, in marked contrast to certain recent boistrous games that bore the players at the end of an hour.

With the one pack six other splendid new, copyright games can be played. Two Educational games and two games of Fun, making it suitable for all members of a family.

"Trail" can be had of dealers or sent post paid, 75c, gilt edge; plain, 50c. Rules for the seven games free.

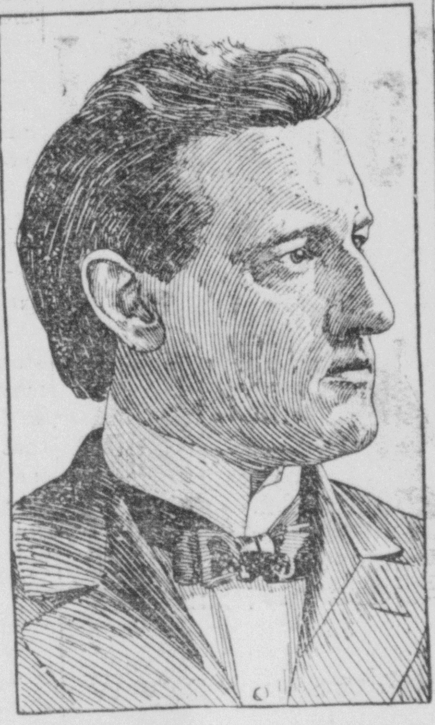
A FITTING TRIBUTE

Speaker Cannon Has High Words for Congressman Watson.

Indianapolis, October 3.—Newspaper accounts of the Cannon-Watson meeting in Illinois and Nebraska indicate that the Indiana congressman has done himself proud on the hustings in the Western country. Especially notable was the tribute paid by Speaker Cannon to his young colleague at Columbus, Neb., where Mr. Watson kept a large crowd standing in the rain to hear him talk. The Omaha Bee reports Speaker Cannon as saying in introducing Mr. Watson at this point: "I want to introduce to you the most eloquent man in the house of representatives on either side of the chamber, and he is not only eloquent, but he talks sense—Indiana's favorite son, James E. Watson." The speakers' bureau of the Republican state committee is flooded with demands from Indiana points for Mr. Watson's services as a speaker, but he will be compelled to give most of his time from now on to the Sixth district.



CONGRESSMAN WATSON.

Two of the busiest men in Indiana these days are M. A. Ryan, chairman of the speakers' bureau of the Democartic state committee, and C. C. Lyons, chairman of the similar branch of the Republican organization. "It's a mean job," said Lyons today as he sorted a pile of letters and telegrams on his desk. Ryan was similarly engaged, and while he maintains his good humor, he says the speakers' bureau requires his attention day and night. Each man is now engaged in routing speakers for every county in the state. There will probably be 200 meetings daily this week, for instance, and it is the duty of the chairman to arrange with the county managers for the meeting, see that it is properly advertised, notify the speaker of his railroad connections, answer the demand for speakers and keep in good humor the local managers who are unable to get the speakers they want. In addition they are depended on to send out speakers adapted to the demands of the particular localities, which alone requires a close touch with the situation. Altogether it is not only the most arduous position in connection with the state committee, but one of the most important.

The managers of the Republican and Democratic campaign are now bending their energies toward perfecting an organization to get out the full vote on election day. In pursuance of this policy the officers of the Lincoln League of Indiana have sent our membership pledges in which the signers agree to vote before noon and to induce other Republicans to do the same thing. This is merely a part of the general movement of both parties to get the masses to vote early. The stay-at-home vote hurt the Democrats more in the recent campaigns than it did the Republicans, owing to the better organization of the latter and the indifference of the former. There has been such a lack of interest that the campaign managers are leaving no stone unturned to get an organization that will fairly drag the voters to the polls if necessary. There are less than five weeks in which to complete the work, so Chairman O'Brien and Chairman Goodrich and their helpers will be working day and night, and then they will not know how well they have accomplished their task till they analyze the results.

President Moore, Secretary Weeks and Treasurer Redding of the National Association of Republican clubs, which will hold a convention here Wednesday and Thursday, arrived last night. Delegates began arriving today from distant states, but the big crowd will not begin to pour in till tomorrow night. President Moore is confident the convention here will be the largest in the history of the association.

Uncle Tom's Cabin.

That which is said to be the biggest and best "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Company traveling, will appear at the opera house on Tuesday Oct 4. It is known from ocean to ocean as Leon W. Washburn's Stetson "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Company, and is composed of fifty men, women and children, all capable actors, actresses, singers and dancers. As a scenic production, it is said to be better than any other. Among others worthy of special mention are "The Ohio River by Moonlight," the beautiful "Vision Scene" and the gorgeous "Transformation Scene" at the close. A number of prize Sheltland ponies, trick mules and Col. Sawyer's splendid pack of genuine Siberian bloodhounds are special features. The spectacular street pageant has a great many beautiful chariots and handsomely-carved tableau wagons, besides other novelties. The parade is led by Washburn's Great Military Band, and is worth going a long way to see.

ONE WORD IN TIME

Is Better Than Two Afterwards. A Chance to Profit By a Seymour Man's Experience.

It is a strange thing how people will put off an opportunity until too late; it's only little things that go to make up our every-day existence. The trouble is we don't pay sufficient attention to them. Backache is a little thing. Sometimes it comes after a hard day's work, or a slight coid. It will pass off you say; it's only the result of overtaxing my back. It isn't the fault of your back but you kidneys. The exertion or straining has interfered with their delicate mechanism You call it backache but it is really kidney ache. It the kidneys are not relieved chronic disorders set in, and this is where "little things" should not be passed over. A Seymour man has learned to appreciate what delay means.

Mrs. Atlas Shannon of third street says; "I found Doan's Kidney Pills to give me positive relief from the dull dragging pain in my back, banish the extreme sensitiveness over the loins which caused sharp twinges when stooping or moving quickly and remove the restlessness nights besides so strengthening the renal organs that I was no longer embarrassed by the kidney secretions. I was greatly gratified by the satisfactory results I obtained and my advice to others is to go to Milhous drug store and procure Doan's Kidney Pills if in need of a remedy of this nature.,,

Spiritualist Meeting Well Attended

The Spiritualist meeting in G. A. R hall yesterday afternoon was well attended. Every seat was taken, and all the standing room was occupied as well. Rev. F. T. Ripley, of Tipton, spoke for 30 minutes on the Philosophy of Spiritualism. He presented many new ideas., and held his audience spell bound with his force and eloquence. At the conclusion of his speaking he gave a demonstration of Spirit return. Several in the audience were given messages which he claimed come from the Sprit World. Some got descriptions of friends who had been dead at least 50 years, and all his tests were admitted by those who received them to be wonderfully correct. Another public meeting will be held next Sunday night, at 7:30.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, is narrated by John Oliver, of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain constantly in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed, at W. F. Peter Drug Co.

"No," replied the youngster. "But mamma and I are both going to heaven, and grandma says papa won't if he don't stop smoking in the parlor, so I'm going to see all of him I can now."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

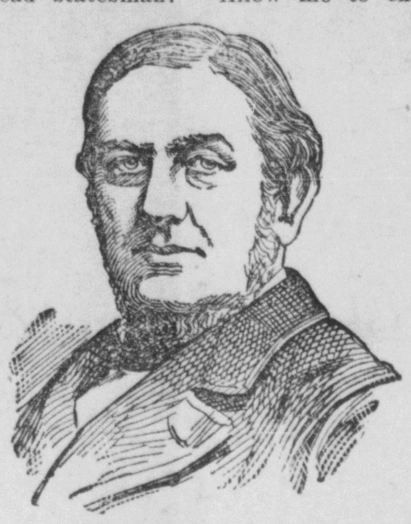
A KING'S SORROW

England's Ruler Expresses Regret at Death of Sir Wm. Harcourt.

London, Oct. 3.—The remains of the late Sir William Harcourt will be buried at Nunehan on Thursday. King Edward has telegraphed as follows from Balmoral to the widow of the dead statesman: "Allow me to express my deepest sympathy in the sad loss you have sustained. I have lost an old and valued friend in your dear husband." The family are so overwhelmed with letters and telegrams of condolence that they request through the press the indulgence of their friends, adding that it will be impossible to separately acknowledge each message.



SIR WILLIAM HARCOURT.

DEVASTATING FLOODS

New Mexico Points Swept by Raging Waters.

Las Vegas, N. M., Oct. 3.—Half the town of Watrous was destroyed by a flood and at least twelve persons were drowned. Many persons were rescued from trees and housetops. The greatest damage was around the junction of Mora and Sapelloiere creeks. The rock crusher, the great iron bridge and much track at Watrous were washed away. The Gallinas river formed a new channel here. In the Gallinas canyon the dams of the Aqua Pura company broke, bringing a terrific flood on the city. The Montezuma Hot Springs track went out in many places. Half a dozen bridges were destroyed and the Montezuma bathhouses were partly carried away. For two blocks on Bridge street every business house was flooded. One hundred thousand dollars will not cover the loss to the town, and the railroad loss is equal to that of recent floods in Arizona. From Santa Rosa comes a report of the loss of the great iron bridge of the Rock Island road and much track.

Hundreds Are Homeless.

Albuequerque, N. M., Oct. 3.—Reports from the floods in the Rio Grande valley above and below this city are coming in. The towns of Valence and Los Lentes were completely washed away and several hundred families are homeless. The river swung to the east, cut a new channel and poured a torrent through the two towns. No lives were lost. The Barela suburb of this city suffered the most, about fifty houses being destroyed.

Canterbury at Trinity Church.

New York, Oct. 3.—Trinity church, rich in historical associations and one of the landmarks of New York, had an event added to its chronicles yesterday when his grace, the Archbishop of Canterbury, and the highest dignitary in the church of Great Britain, preached within its walls. The edifice in consequence was jammed and thousands were turned away.

Seven present and former members of the Buffalo board of alderman, indicted on charges of accepting bribes for the awarding of municipal contracts, are under bond to answer.

A Great Sensation.

There was a big sensation in Leesville, Ind., when W. H. Brown of that place, who was expected to die, had his life saved by Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. He writes: "I endured insufferable agonies from asthma but your New Discovery gave me immediate relief and soon thereafter effected a complete cure. Similar cures for consumption, pneumonia, bronchitis and grip are numerous. It's the peerless remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c, and $1.00 Guaranteed by W. F. Peter Drug Co. Trial bottles free.

DRIFTING TOWARDS BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Many people who are neglecting symptoms of kidney trouble, hoping "it will wear away," are drifting towards Bright's Disease, which is kidney trouble in one of its worst forms.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

stops irregularities, strengthens the urinary organs and builds up the worn-out tissues of the kidneys so they will perform their functions properly. Healthy kidneys strain out the impurities from the blood as it passes through them. Diseased kidneys do not, and the poisonous waste matter is carried by the circulation to every part of the body, causing dizziness, backache, stomach trouble, sluggish liver, irregular heart action, etc.

If you have any signs of Kidney or Bladder Trouble commence taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at once, as it will cure a slight disorder in a few days and prevent a fatal malady. It is pleasant to take and benefits the whole system.

How to Find Out.

You can easily determine if your kidneys are out of order by setting aside for 24 hours a bottle of the urine passed upon arising. If upon examination it is cloudy or milky or has a brick-dust sediment or small particles float about in it, your kidneys are diseased, and FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE should be taken at once.

G. B. Burhans Testifies After Four Years.

G. B. Burhans of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes:

"About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick-dust sediment and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed, and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble."

PRIVATE BANKING

A Question That Will Occupy Much of the Time of Bankers' Convention.

NEED OF SUPERVISION

Some Method of Satisfactory Examination of Private Banks Will Be Recommended.

State Bankers' Association Will Meet In Annual Convention This Week.

Indianapolis, Oct. 3.—The meeting of the State Bankers' association, which occurs here this week, will be of particular interest, following as it will the convention of the bank supervisors. The supervisors spent a great deal of their time condemning the private banks, of which there are about 400 in the state. Half the owners are members of the bankers' association. It is expected that the question of private banking will occupy much of the time of the coming meeting also, as a joint committee, consisting of members from the State Bar association and the State Bankers' association will probably report on some method of satisfactory examination of the private banks.

STRIKERS RESTRAINED

Judge Anderson Enjoins Glass Workers From Interfering.

Indianapolis, Oct. 3.—In the United States circuit court Judge Albert B. Anderson issued a sweeping temporary restraining order against 175 striking employes of the Macbeth-Evans Glass company at Elwood. The order of the court is directed against members of local union No. 114 of the American Flint Glass Workers' union, including its officers, and such other workmen as have been taking part in the long-drawn-out strike, which began in July, when the Macbeth-Evans company declared its factory an "open shop." The workmen are restrained from interfering in any way with the management of the factory or the men who are now at work.

The company's complaint sets out that the strikers have established pickets to prevent the independent workmen from reaching the factory; have attempted by threats and violence to cause them to quit work; and that the men now at work are in great danger from personal injury. By the court's order, nineteen members of the union are cited to appear in the United States circuit court on the morning of Oct. 7 and show cause why a permanent injunction should not be issued against them. The filing of the suit was instigated by the Employers' association of this city.

ARBOR AND BIRD DAY

New Feature of Arbor Day Will Be Observed This Year.

Indianapolis, Oct. 3.—The governor has issued a proclamation setting aside Oct. 21 as "Arbor and Bird Day." This day will be celebrated by appropriate ceremonies through the state, and in many places trees will be planted along the public highways. Schools and colleges will adjourn for this day and the entire time of the school children of this state will be occupied with an attempt to interest them in the culture of trees. This has been observed in this state for several years, but the bird idea is something more recent. The average person is sadly lacking in his knowledge of birds and an effort is being made to interest the coming generation in the study of these little creatures.

An Indiana Patricide.

Salem, Ind., Oct. 3.—During a heated controversy over some stock, Oliver Radcliff of Hardinsburg, fourteen miles south of here, struck his aged father, Silas Radcliff, over the head with a heavy club, crushing his skull. The old man expired an hour after the fatal blow was dealt by his son. Immediately on being notified of the tragedy Sheriff Schlagel hastened to the scene and arrested young Radcliff, who was placed in jail in this city.

Valentine Zimmerman Dead.

Rochester, Ind., Oct. 3.—Valentine Zimmerman, a leading politician of this city, is dead at Petoskey, Mich., after a short illness from malaria and hay fever. He had gone to the Michigan health resort only Thursday evening, and the news of his death was unexpected. Mr. Zimmerman served as state senator from 1895 to 1899 and was twice the nominee for congress in the old Tenth district.

Street Paving Knocked Out.

Logansport, Ind., Oct. 3.—In a session of the council prolonged until morning, remonstrators were successful in preventing the asphalt paving of North street and Eel river avenue. A bid was let for paving Race street, but H. W. Marshall refused to accept it on behalf of his company. In consequence of this the miles of asphalt paving projected for this fall will not be done.

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 3.—Theodore Ott of Kingman, who stepped on a rusty nail last week, is dead of lockjaw.
